BIG STEAMER CONTOOCOOK TAKES MAIDEN DIP

Thousands Cheer as Mrs. John B. Jameson Smashes Champagne and Sponsons Fine Launching

The "Contoocook" the sixth 3500-ton cargo steamer to be built by the L. H. Shattuck Inc., at the Nowington yard was launched about 2.30 o'clock this afternoon. There was a good sized crowd and the sponsor was Mrs. John B. Jameson of Antrim, who came down from Concord with a party of friends. Prayer was offered by the Rev. W. P. Stanley of this city just before the handsome ship took her maiden plunge. The vessel was the most complete yet launched and she was gayly bedecked with the American and Allied colors.

A mighty cheer went up from the thousands of workmen as the ship went rushing down the ways. Congratulations were showered upon General Manager George S. Hewins, Supt. of Hulls, R. R. Greene and his assistant E. F. Maxim. The builder in charge of the ship was Frank A. Barker with Asst. F. X. Taylor. The night Supt. W. O. Greene and his force were also cheered. In the launching party were Hon. John B. Jameson and family of Concord, Mrs. L. H. Shattuck and daughter of Manchester, Mrs. Robert Jackson and children of Concord, Maj. and Mrs. F. W. YANKS STORM AND TAKE SEDAN

One of Most Brilliant Victories of World War

(By Associated Press)

Sedan, famous in the Franco-Prussian war of 1870 has been entered by the American First Army, and marks an advance of more than thirty-four miles since the offensive began on Sept. 26th. Meanwhile the British, French and American troops elsewhere on the front between the Scheldt and the Meuse are pushing the Germans in the small section of France they still occupy. On the road the French lines are within ten miles of the Belgian frontier. Field Marshal Haig rapidly is clearing the Germans from that portion of France east and southeast of Valenciennes. The British have smashed further through the enemy lines and are outflanking the German position in Belgium while the German Commander at Ghent is evacuating that city. The last natural obstacles west of the Belgian frontier have virtually all been cleared away. On the entire right where the French lines join the Americans, French cavalry are riding toward the Meuse. In reaching the Meuse at Sedan, Gen. Pershing's men have achieved an advance of four miles since late Wednesday night. Germany's main line communications from Metz westward go through Sedan and it is no longer of use to the enemy. East of the Meuse the Americans pressed forward toward Montmedy. Germany's troops east of the Meuse because of the great progress of the French and Americans, must now retreat if they can through Belgium.

American Army on the Sedan Front—American troops today entered that part of Sedan that lies on the west bank of the Meuse. The bridge over the Meuse at Sedan over which the retreating enemy fled, has been destroyed and the river valley flooded. The principal German lateral lines of communication between the fortress of Metz and Northern France and Belgium are now either out or unavailable for the enemy's use. Since Nov. 1 the Americans have taken 6000 prisoners, and they have cleared all the territory within the zone of the army's action west of the Meuse to a total of seven hundred square kilometers and have liberated two thousand civilians.

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs.

This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the weaknesses and disability due to advancing years. It is a standard old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil is inclosed in odorless, tasteless capsules containing about 5 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a small swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. Go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But remember to ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. In sealed packages.

SHIPBUILDING IN U. S. JUST BEGUN

Schwab and Hurley Say Workers Will Be Busy Long After War

Washington, Nov. 7.—Shipbuilders in American yards who may fear that their efforts to provide an emergency fleet are limited by the necessities of war, were assured yesterday by Chairman Hurley of the shipping board and Director-General Schwab of the emergency fleet corporation, that there will be plenty of work for them in years to come.

Mr. Schwab warned shipworkers that if Germany were not sincere in its peace overtures it could want nothing better than a slackening of effort by American shipbuilders.

"The present program calls for 15,000,000 tons of merchant ships," he said. "Today we have built only about 2,500,000, and we will not have completed our present program until six times more work has been done.

"Until peace is concluded and until all of our boys have returned to America, it is vital that we keep on building ships with every ounce of our strength and energy. After that we can consider the future. But to permit enthusiasm to lag now might be fatal to our great cause.

"Shipbuilding from the very start of the war has been the essential work that would make victory possible. That is as true today as it was a year ago and will continue to be so until the last battle is fought and we are ready to lay down our arms, the victor, in this war."

"I can say with frankness," said Mr. Hurley, "that our shipyards will be kept going to their capacity and they must not let up. The inefficient plants which have been permitted to operate because of the war emergency and the immediate need of ships, will drop out when the emergency is removed. Efficient yards will be encouraged and supported because we can depend upon them to carry out their promises and produce ships economically.

"Every competent shipworker, every mechanical expert, every trained executive in the yards, owes it to the nation to remain at his post where his services will count most until our ship construction program is complete. There is no ground for uneasiness as to either labor or capital now efficiently employed in producing ships. For many years to come ships—their construction and operation will be of absorbing national interest."

OUR MERCHANT MARINE YESTERDAY

In other days Yankee ships and sailors were able to win the commerce of the world against competition because of native enterprise, brains and seamanship.

They were enormously hampered by numberless tonnage, customs, and neutrality regulations. There were the risks of the sea, of uncharted, unlighted coasts and reefs and islands, and a plague of ferocious pirates and lawless privateers who haunted the trades routes from the Spanish Main to Madagascar.

Notwithstanding all these grievous handicaps, American ships and sailors prospered and multiplied, nor did they stay at home and whine that they could not compete with the more favored merchant navies of England and the Continent. They took and held their commanding share of the world's trade, because they had to have it. They wanted it earnestly enough to go out and get it.

Whenever the United States shall really desire to regain her proud place among the maritime nations the minds of her captains of industry will find a way to achieve it and her legislators will solve their share of the problem.—Ralph D. Paine, The Ships and Sailors of Old Salem.

SALVATION BY THRIFT

By Thornton W. Burgess, of The Vigilantes.

Here's a word or two for you about some things that you can do to make the German Kaiser sore and so to help to win the war. Of course the first thing, as you know, is buying Thrift Stamps, lending of your money to your Uncle Sam. Thus a bitter truth you ram home to German Kaiser Bill, truth that is a bitter pill. This is it, that over here it to us is very clear that we with dollars here must fight to back our soldier boys up right; that more of money we must lend to Uncle Sam wherewith to send our soldiers food and clothing too, and all the things wherewith to do the work that never, never'll cease until we dictate such a peace that to all wars shall put an end and all the German outrage mend.

When you hear peace talk, you talk fight. A peace just yet would not be right. In Berlin still the Kaiser rules and still the German people fools. His word's not worth a puff of air; to trust him now we would not dare.

He's trying now to save his face and on his throne still keep his place. He wants peace now that bye and bye he'll have another chance to try to tramp the world beneath his feet and thus win victory from defeat. We've met and fought the beastly Hun and now we've got him on the run we want to keep him running till he's had his everlasting fill of fighting and agrees that he forever and forever'll be content to mind his own affairs and leave to other people theirs.

Just show you still are full of pep and fear not U-boat or aZep. Just show we mean to fight it out till his defeat becomes a rout. Go after him and go it hard. Help chase Bill home into his yard. It's up to you to stand the test by doing just your very best to help the sale of satmps along, and show we still are going strong.

PRUSSIAN GENTLEMEN

By Courtney Ryley Cooper of The Vigilantes

"Roughnecks in dress clothes."

Such is the description that best fits the accredited agents of Imperial Germany, who, for years, made the United States the "American front," as they called it, of the European war. And in case of doubt regarding that expression, one needs only to glance through the letters found in the portfolio of Dr. Albert, forgotten by him on an "L" train, the afternoon of July 24, 1915:

"Things are going exceedingly well for us on the 'American front'."

A battlefield, just as much as France was a battlefield—such was America in the eyes of Germany during the days of neutrality. Every explosion, every catastrophe, every assault upon life or property, was heralded in Germany as a victory. And the men who heralded them, who supported the campaigns of destruction were Count Johann von Bernstorff Imperial German Ambassador, Capt. Franz von Papen, Military Attache and Capt. Karl Boy-Ed, Naval Attache.

The gang-masters of New York who kill for stated amounts, are looked upon as moral lepers. Yet here were men, the accredited representatives of a country that called itself the friend of America, who not only deal in death, but deal in it by the score of casualties—the more the better. Bombing, incendiarism, sabotage, bribery, disease, shipwrecking—the list of death-dealing instruments with which these diplomatic thugs amused themselves included everything with in the constituency of crime. And for that reason—

We are today at war with Germany

LIMITED SERVICE MEN ARE NEEDED

Washington, Nov. 5.—A drive to secure 35,000 volunteers from limited service men, urgently needed to fill special posts in the army, was begun yesterday by the department of labor's employment service at the request of the war department. The men are wanted for duty in this country and will be used to release more active men for service overseas.

Only class 1-A registrants, certified for limited service will be taken. All men volunteering will be inducted into the ranks as privates and promotion to higher grades will depend on ability. Branch offices of the employment service and community labor boards over the country will receive applications for induction and give the men all the necessary aid in getting into the service.

Some of the lines in which limited service men are needed and the number wanted are:

Assemblers, 2000; chauffeurs, 6250; clerks, 1102; cooks, 700; laborers, 3176; mechanics, 1150; motorcycle drivers, 1225; transmission men, 1500, and tire repairers, 400. One newspaper men and three motion picture experts are also wanted.

Earn the Kaiser's curse. Give to the United War Work Fund.

THE AMBITION TO SERVE

By George E. Bowen of The Vigilantes

A young man in a big office said to me: "Great Caesar! I'd give ten years' salary to be in the La Fayette Escadrille."

Another young fellow in a machine shop was grieving himself thin because he couldn't get into a lieutenant's uniform at one jump.

To the aspiring young secretary in the big office I said: "True service is humble, and its first rule is acceptance of whatever duty."

To the brawny young machinist I quoted "Loyalty vaunteth not itself in gold braid; he also serves who only stands in readiness to work or fight."

There could be no ambitious service at the front, in the sky, on land, or under the sea, but not a nation of concentrated men and women, given their strength and patience to the humble, tedious tasks of production and preparation—even of conservation and denial.

Everybody loves a man in uniform.

But every man in uniform loves and praises the spirit of the steadfast service of the man at the plow, the forge and the bench, as he does the devotion of the women who knit and cook and make hospitals into homes of loving kindness and new hope.

It isn't altogether a front-rank fight, men. It is a universal conflict with a single enemy. Manhood against the Beast.

Positions are important only as we fill them with efficiency and honor.

Trench lines are necessary; bench lines, in shop and mill, vitally so.

There must be a foundry before every cannon; a wheat farm before every loaf of bread.

If you get into a uniform, honor it, if need be, with your life, and glorify our cause with sleepless service and unquestioning devotion. Be ready for any sacrifice.

If you get into a trench—behind a plow, keep it straight and clean and deep, for you will be building the sure foundations of endurance, victory and peace.

Or, maybe, you are a high school girl, inspired to heroism and great personal sacrifice, by the story of Sara Lee, angel of "The Little House of Mercy."

Perhaps a guiding fate will call you to some desolate, blood-drenched sector on the west front, or where, in the shattered rose gardens of Bulgaria, the prayers of sticken Serbian soldiers ask for solace of gnil hands and the restoring care of well-trained sympathy.

But if duty sets you down behind a whirring machine in a war plant, or gives to your care and industry some garden rows afield, or even puts you in an elevator or behind a store counter, be proud of your trust and faithful to it.

Give your modest and obscure duty a high distinction it never knew before, that will forever dignify it in the days of peace to come.

Put the best of yourself into the letters you type, the columns you add, the stitches you take or the loaves you bake—make your work as sacred as the cause to which it is given.

Service, after all, is a mutual thing. One for all and all for one.

It is taking a world war to make us appreciate the character and service of our neighbor next door or across the street.

There won't be very many strangers after the war. The Kaiser's purpose is surely defeating itself.

Those who once were known as numbered laborers will in the new era of peace be greeted as human beings.

Service is redeeming the world, uniting it, breaking down its prejudices, discovering its dreary isolations, laughing away its haughty restraints, opening pleasant doorways to human fellowship.

Fill your place, wherever it is.

There would be no golden shoulder straps or stars of military design but for to hopeful, uncomplaining industry and steadfast loyalty of men in blue overalls.

The shell you fill on an arsenal bench will carry your ambition to Metz and record wour loyalty in Berlin.

Service here is partner to the service "over there."

You are working with and for the gallant men at the front, as they are struggling for you.

War work will win the war as surely as the bravery of men in arms.

Forget the picturesque distinction of uniforms and spurs and insignia.

Get busy where you are.

The rest will come to you.

And peace to our world.

Send in pictures and sketches of your soldier or sailor lad for the Herald's picture gallery.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 30c and 25c a box. All druggists.

REPUBLICANS SURE OF HOUSE-SENATE DOUBTFUL

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Nov. 6—Congressional election returns, still incomplete late tonight, makes it very apparent that the Republicans have taken the House by not less than 11 majority and possibly more, and the Senate is still in doubt with the outcome depending upon the unsettled situation in Michigan, where Henry Ford is running close to Newberry, Republican, and in Idaho and New Mexico.

On the face of the returns twenty-five Republicans were elected from districts now held by the Democrats, and seven Democrats in place of Republicans. In the Senate one Democrat was elected in the place of a Republican and six Republicans in places of Democrats.

THREE MONTHS OF DAYLIGHT

During the long winters daylight in Finland lasts only three or four hours. On the shortest days it is even less. Then it is indeed, a land of snow and ice. For three months it is so hot that the wealthy residents seek summer resorts for comfort. During that time it is practically one long day. Not a star to be seen, and the appearance of the first star is a sign that summer is past, and the time of autumn frosts has arrived.

During my visit the evening twilight had scarcely disappeared before the morning twilight chased the gloom of night away. One could read out of doors until after eleven o'clock. These long days, with scarcely any night, force vegetation to grow at a hothouse pace. Summer comes in this strange land with a sudden burst of flowers, sunlight and birds.

Finland is a land of pine and fireland hills, for only a comparatively small portion seems to be cleared. The most of the country is fairly level, so that it has not the grandeur of the Scandinavian kingdom. In the cleared portions stand neat little wooden cottages, which are usually kept freshly painted, red being the favorite color. Surface drain ditches are made in the cultivated fields every few rods, and all seems most carefully tilled.—Nevin O. Winter, in the Christian Herald.

MURDER WILL OUT

IT HAPPENED OVER 50 YEARS AGO AND VICTIM JUST LEARNS OF IT—AN INCIDENT OF THE CIVIL WAR.

To the Editor

A few years ago the Massachusetts Legislature enacted that every Civil War veteran who enlisted in Massachusetts and was regularly mustered into a Massachusetts regiment, should receive a gratuity from the state of $125. Referring to this gratuity early in March, 1916, I wrote the adjutant general of New York in effect that it seemed strange to me, a New York Civil War veteran, that the great Empire State had not seen fit to deal as generously by its soldier sons as Massachusetts had done. In reply I received the following letter:

State of New York,
Office of the Attorney General.
Albany, June 21, 1916.

Robert E. Woodbury, Attorney General.

Darwin Cadwell Pavey, Esq., Auditor's Department, State House, Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir—I have today been advised by the adjutant general that the record books of the town of Rome on file in the adjutant general's office and made out by the town clerk of that town (Jacob J. Nestle), in 1865, show that a person under your name was paid $1,000 by the town of Rome and $500 by the County of Oneida. I can not see how the adjutant general can comply with your request unless you can get the record changed by court order, or establish by positive proof that you were not the Darwin C. Pavey, Fifteenth New York Engineers, mentioned in that record.

Very truly yours,
E. E. WOODBURY,
Attorney General.

You can, perhaps, gauge my astonishment at this bit of information, thus accidentally resurrected after a lapse of half a century, when the fact is stated that on enlistment in the latter part of 1861 the total local bounty that I received was but $200! And I can fancy how my apparent quest of a New York gratuity, even indirectly, must have impressed the New York state authorities in view of the fact that I had received a local bounty, all told, of $1,500. He must have considered my apparent greed of a colossal type. When I enlisted, the late Giles Hawley, then supervisor of Rome, accompanied me to Utica and handed $200 in bills to the late Marshal Hubbard of Utica, saying as he did so: "Here's two hundred dollars county bounty. Should Mr. Pavey pass examination and be regularly mustered into the United States service, give him this money."

Marshal Hubbard went to Elmira with our squad and after my acceptance as a recruit for Company I, Fifteenth New York State Volunteers, Engineer Corps, he handed me the $200 and I at once expressed the entire sum to my father at Rome, N. Y. giving directions in detail as to its disposition. My oldest sister, Mrs. D. P. Harg, now of Chicago, Ill., remembers the arrival of the money and tells in detail, many of the purchases made by my father of presents for my parents, sisters and brother. (By the way it was not necessary for me to break into the $200 in Elmira as I had sufficient funds, over $32 with which to pay all expenses while there—a little over a week.)

So that, in conclusion, while I do not know that I was properly a beneficiary to the extent of $1,500, the town clerk's books show that some one, in my name, "absorbed" thirteen hundred [illegible] The question therefore is who receipted in my name for $1,500, whereas I received, in all, but $200? And that was from the county; nothing from Rome.

During the Civil War the town government of Rome was in the hands of the most virulent copperhead scalawags to be found west of New York City, and a Republican stood about as much of a show as would a snow ball in the tropics. I did not enlist for bounty; had I done so I would have made extended inquiries as to the amount to be paid me, and the whole contemptible performance is made clear, by accident, after having slumbered for more than 50 years.

I make no charges against individuals in this connection, but the gang that appropriated that money was probably made up of the same creatures who got thoroughly soused in the saloon of Thomson & Rowe (then located on the west side of James street, one door south of Stone Alley), and coming out in a fine frame of frenzied enthusiasm, celebrated the Confederate victory in the surrender of Fort Sumter. Although but a lad of 16 years at that time I saw the whole performance and could give you the names of the chief participants in the discreditable affair.

The same crowd, a self-constituted committee, went around each year among the Romans about a week before the great national holiday, July 4, and collected subscriptions for the "Glorious Fourth." At the close of each day, one could have seen most of these bibulous copperheads in the Stanwix Hall bar room where they joyfully spent more money for booze than many of them could dig up for the remainder of the year. The favorite tipple of the senior copperhead present was, as I remember, gin and sugar, the others running the gamut of whisky cocktail, brandy and soda, rum and molasses, down to sherry cobbler. A fair percentage of the day's collections being thus spent for irrigation purposes.

Is it any wonder, therefore, where that thirteen hundred dollars went?

DARWIN C. PAVEY.

PROTECT THE DEEP SEA FISHERMEN.

By Eugenie M. Fryer of The Vigilantes

In a recent issue of a New York newspaper there appeared an editorial entitled "The Nation's Fish Problem" and commending the attention given by the American Fisheries Society and the International Association of Fish and Game Commissions to the keeping down the price of fish. These two conventions failed utterly, it seems to me, to recommend any real solution.

Three things are forcing up prices for sea food. 1. On account of the draft, comparatively few fishermen are left to fish. Fishermen are not made in a day. 2. The price of gear. Gear formerly costing five dollars, now costs from nineteen to twenty-two dollars. Fishermen with whom I have talked, have given me this information. They cannot afford to fish unless they can pay their expenses and also make a living. 3. The fish dealers are forcing up the price of fish by holding back the supply when the demand exceeds the fish available for market. Their prices should be regulated by the Federal Government; the fish dealers, not the fishermen, need this regulation.

To encourage and foster the fishing industry, fishermen should not be drafted into the army. They should be taken over as an auxiliary of the navy, as they have been in England, their trawlers armed so that they can protect themselves when attacked. Incidentally they would also account for more than one U-boat.

Fishermen, for the duration of the war, should be subsidized; equipped by the Government, making it possible for them to earn a living, and not be forced to charge exorbitantly for what they catch, nor cheated by the fish dealers out of their just earnings.

Cannot this be done before it is too late? To do it will put another spoke in the Kaiser's wheel of misfortune and at the same time protect our gallant men of the sea whose patriotism is of the highest order.

VOLUNTEERS FOR LIMITED SERVICE MEN

The local War Board have received a call for volunteers for warehouse men, clerks, stenographers or typists from the special or limited service. They have until Nov. 25 to volunteer and then if enough are not secured they will be inducted. There are sixty in the entire state called.

There is nothing about the War Board which would indicate peace right off. The Board have completed sending out the questionnaires and they are rapidly classifying the men of 18 and those from 36 to 45. The 19 to 26 men have been classified for some time, in fact this board had a very fine record in this work as shown by the progress chart issued by the Provost Marshal's office.

There are eleven men called for the 12th to go to Garden City, and more calls are expected this month. The Board is also engaged upon the annual report for which there is room for some volunteer assistants.

BOXING TALENT FAIL TO APPEAR

The second bout of the Knickerbocker A. C. was considerable of a failure on Wednesday evening, and apparently through no fault of the manager. Mike Paulson of St. Paul, who was scheduled for the main bout with Louis Bogash, failed to appear, notifying the manager the last day that he could not fight as he had a big bout on Saturday, and his agreement was that he would not fight this week. Bogash also failed to appear.

Dan McCormack of East Boston did not arrive for his bout with Billy Woods of Manchester, who was in the ring and ready.

A bout between Paddy Owens of Boston and George Brooks of Boston was put on for the main bout, but they did not mill it fast enough for the crowd and Referee Glover cautioned the men to get going. A few seconds after Brooks dropped to the floor from a short jab to the jaw, but the crowd failed to give him sympathy when he was counted out.

To appease the crowd Paddy Owens then went on with Billy Woods for four rounds and although the Boston lad is many pounds lighter than Woods, he went right to it and it was four fast rounds. Woods fought well and shook Owens several times but the lad was back for more and he landed repeatedly and with enough steam to Wood give ground repeatedly. The decision was a draw.

In the preliminary Charlie Tremblay got the decision over Young Darcion in six rounds of amusing fighting.

Americanizing America.

Governor Whitman of New York, who a few days ago took part in laying the cornerstone of a Jewish hospital in Brooklyn, stated an important truth when he said in the course of his address: "With the nation at war Americanism has proved paramount to all racial, religious and political lines that formerly divided the people of the United States. Never before in the history of the nation," he said, "have the lines of division that naturally sprang up between good men and other good men, each striving for the attainment of good things in different ways, been so nearly obliterated as they are today. As never before our people are united, not divided, by the groups which once separated them."

There is no questioning the truth of these words. By this war and what it stands for the different nationalities in the United States have been drawn together in a closer and stronger brotherhood than ever before. The great "melting pot" was doing its work well before the war. People from all the nations of the earth were mingling here in a friendly way, all striving for their own good and the public good according to the light they had. But with the coming of the war and the participation of this country therein there came a closer bond of union among the varying and various elements of the population and the United States became one people in reality, as it was in name.

Governor Whitman mentioned the fact that from New York city alone there are more than 50,000 Jews among the American fighting forces. And it is true that every part of the country has an equally excellent record. Those who read the draft and casualty lists cannot fail to notice that practically all nationalities are represented. The people who have come here to make their homes have shown their good faith by their readiness to fight for their adopted country and have thereby proved themselves worthy of the name of Americans.

The war did not create the "melting pot," but it has speeded up its work, which will continue to go on steadily and swiftly after the war. The new-comers have received a lesson in nationality which they will never forget. The various races are fighting side by side in a common cause, and this comradeship will endure. They are marching under one flag to a victory that will mean the end of military autocracy and oppression, and the right of the people of the world to manage their own affairs in their own way.

It is a glorious cause, and it is a great and glorious army that represents the United States in this struggle for world freedom.

A dispatch from Washington says that orders for 3,000,000,000 cigarettes, enough to supply two smokes for every person in the world, have been placed by the War Department to supply the American soldiers for the balance of the year. But this is a case in which the cigarette will prove deadly to "the other fellow."

It cannot have escaped notice that Secretary Daniels took occasion to say, when here recently, that naval work is not going to stop with the close of the war. Hereafter this nation is going to be represented on the seas in a manner worthy of its power and prestige, as it has not been in the past.

Can it be possible that it will take longer to demobilize the American forces in France than it did to place them there? Gen. T. Coleman du Pont says it will tak two years. But the probability is that the work of getting home will move faster than he predicts.

We are sorry for Maine, some parts of which are seriously afflicted by the influenza epidemic, and are thankful that we are in a position to loan the services of Dr. Paul Preble, in charge of the government health zone here, who has hastened to the scene of trouble.

According to a dispatch from Geneva some of the Hohenzollern trunks are finding their way into Switzerland. They are liable t obe called for later by their owners, and, to judge by the way things are moving now, it may not be much later, at that.

The prune supply for the soldiers at home and abroad is to be doubled. And, of course, the boys will not neglect to save the pits.

It is in order to state that the "collapsible front" was also "made in Germany."

It is peace or pieces for Germany, and she has not long to make the choice.

COMMENT EDITORIAL

The State and the Issue

(From the Manchester Union)

There was only one big issue in the campaign that came to its ballot climax yesterday, and it is with satisfaction that The Union records this morning the clean-cut stand taken by New Hampshire on the issue.

The question was not personal to any of the candidates, and, while this was too much to hope for, it ought not to have been partisan. It was: Whether or not this state and its congressional districts should elect their own representatives to the senate and house, or should send men bearing a mandate to do the will of one man in the making of the nation's laws.

This issue, created by the President was accepted by the Republicans, and their campaign was fought upon it. And the party voted with almost surprising solidity for representative as against personal government. It was inevitable that the appeal for support of the President through the period of the war should have some effect, and, of course, the vote was relatively small, on account of the absent men in the service, and those who have moved away. But, taken by and large, the vote was eminently satisfactory; as an expression of Republican sentiment in favor of maintaining our method of lawmaking by representation.

At the time when this is written, the result as between George H. Moses and John B. Jameson is in doubt. Here the issue was obscured. At this point the Democrats made their campaign, turning all their guns upon Moses. There could be only one result of this manoeuver. Pitting the man whom they have "saved up" for some such occasion against the Republican convention candidate the Democrats could not help cutting deeply into the Moses vote. They did so, and they may have won, according to the returns available at 10.30 o'clock. But this does not materially affect the main fact of the campaign and the election—the four-square stand of the Republicans of New Hampshire against the personal dictation of the President in matters electoral and legislative.

There is ground for solid satisfaction now, and good hope for the future, that in this war year in the face of an appeal for support of the President for the period of the war, at a time when all the usual arguments of prosperity could be used with effect by the administration and with an admittedly weak point in the line, the Republicans of New Hampshire were able to elect their governor, two congressmen, and one and perhaps two United States senators, voting on the manly issue of representative government.

Not a Court Martial We Hope

The chilly air for the past few days and the influence of Dame Fashion, has caused many of the yeoglris in the service to doll up in furs and other wraps not provided by the navy regulations. Rear Admiral Wood of the First Naval District, who learned of the violation of the order says, "those who persist in wearing anything but the regulation uniform for winter will be dealt with in a fitting manner."

Those who have complied strictly to the letter of the law are wondering what punishment, if any, will be meted out to those who appear to be more influenced by Dame Fashion than by navy regulations.

LETTER FROM OVER THERE

Dear Mother:

Again I am a few days late in writing, the days are getting so much shorter now that its dark when we get through supper and then its pretty hard to write! I got your letter inclosing the money order, and it got here in plenty time. My turn for a vacation don't come for two or three weeks yet. We are expecting to move from here within a few days, as our work is completed as far as we are concerned.

Well, I suppose you all thought peace was declared and we'd be coming home in a short while. The papers here made it seem so but contrary to what one would believe, there was very little rejoicing over it. Everyone seemed to be puzzled over the quick turn of events and when the next issues came out stating the real facts no one was disappointed, but rather were well satisfied and more determined than ever to finish things up in the proper manner.

It surely will surprise me if the war continues over into the next year.

Last Sunday five of us fellows had a dinner prepared for us and here's what we had: Roast goose stuffed with sausage and chestnuts, French fried potatoes, excellent gravy, tomatoes with mayonnaise dressing, cheese, cake with chocolate sauce, bread and butter, cocoa and grapes and apples. It was cooked fine and we sure did eat. While we were eating a fellow from Hillsboro, New Hampshire, came in. He was passing through with a convoy of trucks and we fed him up as well as a fellow from Chicago. We were two hours eating and didn't eat anything more until the next day, it only cost us about two dollars a plate.

I am going to send you a picture I had taken the other day with my tin derby on. I'll send the film along with it hoping it will get by the censors. I have got quite a few others that I dare not send but will save them till some other time.

I am still getting the Literary Digests and enjoy them all.

I must close now with love to all.

"WAR IS HELL."

Years ago Sherman said "war is hell."
We realize that now very well
Our homes have been broken, our boys sent away
And some on the foreign battlefield forever will stay.

Others are victims of the submarine
And never again on earth will be seen;
Some have met their fate in the air
All nobly defending Old Glory so fair.

And we who are destined to stay at home
Are backing the boys with our Fourth Liberty Loan;
And surely we count it not a loss
To loyally sustain the noble RED CROSS.

In many of our homes there is now a vacant chair
A father's stifled sob, a mother's broken prayer;
But God in his mercy will protect the right
We believe victorious peace is almost in sight.

Our terrific power the Kaiser has surely felt
As we have handed him welt after welt
And now as he sees his army steadily decrease
He sends out a petition for immediate peace.

The trick old guy wants to spring a trap
And wipe the Yankee boys all off his map;
But Wilson's reply was a great big husky "No"
Your bluff old Bill does not here go.

My warnings and notes you answered with lies
You never really meant any of your replies;
The Yankee boys are aroused thru and thru
And want no better fun than getting you.

Wilson avoided war with all the honor he could command
For he wanted to see no privation in this fair land;
Well he knew if to arms America he had to call
That thousands of our boys in life conflict would fall.

He knew that hardships, worriment and strife
Would fall to the masses then enjoying life;
He knew the nations patriotism would not lag
That the nation entire would back up the Starry Flag.

Our country now is wakened from its peaceful sleep
And hence-forth on the alert will ever more keep;
Old Bill made a mistake in rocking our boat
He knows the Yankee Boys soon will have his goat.

His cruelty and butchery will soon be done
Our boys want to exterminate every single Hun;
They are a disgrace to the civilized world
And into Dante's Inferno should all be hurled.

Our boys are all fighting with soul, heart and will
Each one praying that he may get old Bill;
Resolved that AMERICA shall have the fame
Of freeing Europe from the Kaiser's awful reign.

Resolved that when AMERICA enters into a war
That the whole world shall know what it is for
That America stands firmly for humanity
Both on the land and also on the sea.

That America stands for freedom and right
That to sustain its principals every American will fight.
That our loved ensign forever shall wave
Over the homes of the free and the hearts of the brave.

STUDYING RETURN TO A PEACE BASIS

Washington, Nov. 7.—The War Industries Board has begun consideration of the problem of readjustment of the Nation's business from a war to a peace basis. Chairman Bernard M. Baruch said yesterday that discussions on the subject are already in progress in the various departments, and that a definite announcement on plans adopted will be made as soon as possible. He affirmed, however, that no actual steps in the change have been taken and will not be until a program is mapped out.

Mr. Baruch said that there have been no cancellations of contracts, but when the need for war materials passes such contracts will be cancelled at the earliest moment, fair to all concerned.

As to the control the Government now exercises over all business, Mr. Baruch believes it should continue until things are near normal again, but restrictions should be removed as soon as possible.

The principal problem will be the diversion of raw materials that would have gone into war supplies to factories supplying civilian needs.

There was warning that the readjustment cannot be expected to be affected without disturbance to business, but all officials are determined to reduce this to a minimum.

Mr. Baruch denied published statements that "dollar-a-year" men and others who have been drawn to Washington by the war emergency are rushing back to their own business. He said that not one has asked to be relieved and that all realize they must remain to solve the problems peace will bring to the government and the business world.

VIOLATIONS OF THE FISH AND GAME LAWS

The following violations of the fish and game laws of Maine have been reported to the commissioner of inland fisheries and game:

By Benjamin A. Parker of North Berwick, chief warden for York county, of the prosecution before Judge Tucker of Sanford, of Henry Miller of Farmington, N. H., for hunting without a non-resident's license. He pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and $22.10, which he paid.

The same man was arraigned on the charge of having illegally killed three raccoons, three skunks and a rabbit. He pleaded guilty and was fined $91, which he paid, the cost being remitted.

The skins in his possession were confiscated and sent to the department to be sold for the benefit of the state.

ELECTION OF DEMOCRATS IN HILLSBORO IS SURPRISE

Manchester, Nov. 7.—For the first time since the early 70s the Democratic candidates for county offices have been elected in Hillsboro county. To several of them this was more than a surprise as they were drafted for the places assigned them on the ticket and had not the remotest hope of being elected.

All of the newly-elected officials except two are residents of Manchester. The City of Nashua is unrepresented, but the country towns have two of the commissioners.

The Democrats gain 18 representatives in the Legislature from this city. Jameson, with a majority of 1961, received the largest majority given any of the candidates for major offices.

SOME ELECTION CURIOSITIES

County Delegation Will Contain 38 Republicans, 12 Democrats.

SOME ELECTION ... ...

The aftermath of the election of Tuesday shows some interesting figures regarding Rockingham county. The Republican ticket won in all of the towns except East Kingston, Epping, Newington, Newmarket, and Wards 1, 3 and 5 in Portsmouth. Candia, giving some Republicans a majority, voted Democratic at the head and elected a Democratic representative. All of the county officials were re-elected by large majorities.

The next Rockingham county delegation in the legislature will consist of 38 Republicans and 12 Democrats.

Locally the vote was larger than expected, a total of 796 votes being cast, which was about 300 less, than the total number on the voting list.

Register of Deeds John W. A. Green and County Solicitor William H. Sleeper were the highest local candidates, receiving 593 and 562 respectively.

Exeter claims to have had one of the youngest voters in the state, Spencer Wentworth, son of Edmund H. Wentworth, and grandson of the late Prof. George H. Wentworth, professor of mathematics in the Phillips Exeter academy, who reached his 21st birthday Monday, Nov. 4.

At Newfields a loyal supporter of Senator-elect George H. Moses was found, as at the count of the ballots one was found bearing only the cross opposite the name of Mr. Moses.

Probably the oldest representative-elect is Warren Brown of Hampton Falls, who was 82 years of age. Mr. Brown is a republican.

DON'T WAIT FOR A CERTIFICATE TO VOTE

Watch for the Notices and Have Name Put on Checklist.

The heated arguments, threats, etc., which occurred in the board of registrars' rooms on Tuesday should not be repeated on the occasion of the coming city election.

The board of registrars will have four meetings previous to the city election on Dec. 10, and every man who cares to cast a ballot on that day should keep away from the registration rooms on election day. Get a line on the dates of meetings through the newspapers and attend to your duty at the first opportunity. The board will arrange the dates in a few days and then it will be up to those not now on the checklist to get busy and appear before the registrars. Don't delay, get there at the first meeting if possible. The days for voting on certificates are nearly over if the Portsmouth delegation to Concord have any influence in making a ruling to that effect.

SMALL CHANCE FOR LOSS CROSSING SEA

The following facts, from a recent statement by Sir Eric Geddes, First Lord of the British Administration are interesting for the friends and relatives of the soldiers sailing to France.

During the past three months seven American soldiers and their equipment have arrived in Europe every minute of the day and night and their maintenance on top of that.

More than half of these troops are now carried on vessels built in America and manned by American sailors.

The submarine risk in crossing may be estimated from the past that in four years of war the British and American navy have escorted overseas, to and from all theatres of the war, 16,000,000 men belonging to the armies of the British Empire, with a loss of only one-thousandth part of a man in every hundred carried, from all causes—marine risk or enemy action—and during times when the submarines were far less under control than they are now.

ENJOYABLE QUILTING PARTY

GRAFFORT CLUB OPENS SEASON

The Graffort Club opened its season yesterday afternoon at Peirce Hall. The meeting began at 3.30 o'clock, the president, Mrs. Marion T. Rugg, presiding. Twenty new members were received into the club.

Miss Lillian A. Odell, club secretary read her report and an excellent address by Mrs. Mary I. Wood followed, her topic being "Why I am Working With the Government." Mrs. Wood spoke first of the three principal reasons, saying first "I am working for the government because I am a woman and women are now working shoulder to shoulder with the men to help win the war; second because I am an American and America is engaged in a war for freedom and stands first for freedom, democracy and service, and the third reason is because I am an American woman, and in the golden age of thoughtlessness before the war no women were more peaceful or happy than the American woman."

Mrs. Wood went on to tell of the change which had come to America and said that never again would America be free from feeding the world. She referred to a meeting of heads of organizations she attended in Washington some time since in the hall erected by the Daughters of the Revolution, those present being women chosen to work for the interest of the war. She told of the band playing "Hail to the Chief" as President Wilson made his appearance and said it seemed as if the people who were across were sending an appeal to those of us on this side to do all possible to help in the war work.

She told the story of General Pershing after arriving in France asking to see the tomb of Lafayette and placing his bowed head on the tomb saying, "Lafayette we are here." While we cannot all fight for France she said, we can all stand behind our government and aim to help in the winning of the war.

She talked on the food regulations and the importance of conservation, saying we have millions more to feed than we had a few months ago. She spoke of the reconstruction work after the war and said it must rest with the women of America to do much of this work.

Miss Odell followed with a report on the Federation meeting in Nashua. National songs were rendered by the gathering, led by Mrs. Mabel D. Crosby, Mrs. Ira St. Clair presiding at the piano. The meeting closed with the rendering of the "Star Spangled Banner" by all, the American emblem being conspicuously displayed on the stage.

The next general meeting of the club will be a Red Cross all day sewing meeting to be held on Wednesday, Nov. 20 in the Woman's Building on Middle street from 10 a. m. to 5.00 p. m. The members will bring a basket lunch and coffee will be served by the club.

GAVE EXCELLENT ENTERTAINMENT AT THE MARINE CHAPEL

The Benedict Trio of Boston gave a musical of rare merit at the Marine Chapel at the navy yard last evening before an enthusiastic audience. The trio is composed of Mme. Gladys Benedict, soprano, Miss Pauline Remick, violinist, and Milo E. Benedict, pianist and director. All are musicians of rare ability and the choice program rendered was heartily applauded.

Mme. Benedict has sung in many of the leading cities of the country her last tour being with the New York Symphony Orchestra. Miss Remick is a member of the famous McDowell Club Orchestra of Boston. Mr. Benedick the pianist and director of the Trio, is a well known reader and critic and has been heard on both sides of the water.

The program rendered was as follows:

Piano Solo, Spinning Song ..... Raff
Mr. Benedict.

Violin Solo
Rondino ..... Beethoven
Mazurka ..... Wieniawski
Miss Remick

Song, "Se Saran Rose" ..... Arditi
Mme. Benedict.

Piano Solo
Carnival ..... Grieg
(Norwegian music)
Mr. Benedict.

Songs with Violin
The Nile (An Egyptian song) Leroux
Barcarolle ..... Offenbach
Mme. Benedict and Miss Remick

Violin Solos
Romance ..... Svendsen
Humoresque ..... Tor Aulin
(Scandinavian music)
Miss Remick.

Operatic Aria from "Traviata" Verdi
Mme. Benedict

Ava Maria ..... Bach-Gounod
(with violin)
Mme. Benedict and Miss Remick

The trio will appear at Fort Constitution, New Castle, this evening, having been engaged to furnish music this week for the enlisted men. It has filled 43 concert engagements at army and navy camps and forts since the last of June and gave 16 musicals at Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass., until the influenza epidemic caused the camp to be quarantined. It has also appeared at the forts near Portland, Me., and at New Haven and New London, Conn., and Springfield Mass.

Evidence of the ability of the players and the appreciation of the classical program offered is seen by the way the enlisted men attend the musicals and show the closest attention to the end. The popular music can be heard by the enlisted men at the camps and forts any time but when occasionally a musical is given by artists of much ability the soldiers and sailors show that they can appreciate the opportunity of listening to a classical program. Among the enlisted men are a number who have studied music and are familiar with the selections rendered.

WARN YEOGIRLS WHO WEAR FURS.

Rear Admiral Wood said yesterday yeowomen who persisted in wearing fur coats, furs, or other wraps not provided for in the regulations for winter uniforms would be dealt with in a fitting manner.

Orders were issued forbidding wearing of furs as it is felt the navy overcoat recently adopted for official use is amply warm and entirely suitable for any weather.

The chilly air yesterday caused some yeowomen to disregard the order about wearing furs, and those who did comply strictly with the letter of the law are wondering what punishment if any, will be meted out to those who appear to be more influenced by Dame Fashion than by navy regulations.

NO MORE YEOWOMEN TO BE ENLISTED

Orders that no more yeowomen be sworn into the Navy at present were brought yesterday to the Navy Recruiting Station in the Cornhill Building by Lieut. Commander Newton Mansfield, Inspector of the Eastern Recruiting Division, who came to Boston for a conference on November inductions with Commander John R. Brady, chief of the station.

Those girls in the process of enlistment, or having passed their examinations and now on the Navy's waiting list, can move no further at present. One girl, who would have been sworn in within an hour, at the time the order came, burst into tears.

Mr. Mansfield said the formation of Naval units in 38 colleges had so fully occupied the recruiting staffs, coupled with the retarding effects of the recent epidemic, that the October quota of 15,000 men to be released by the draft boards to the Navy had not been completed. Deficiencies therein will be added to the November quota of 15,000.

The Eastern Division in October secured by induction 4000 men in deferred classification to be stevedores.

The 38 College Naval Units required 12,600 youths. Of these 5970 were allotted to the Eastern Division and 4157 were enrolled.

TO GET RESTAURANT PROFITEERS

Boston, Nov. 6.—No action will be taken by the food administration against the restaurants which are alleged by the public to be profiteering until the federal administration has completed its investigation of the Child's restaurants.

Offenders will be noted and, as soon as the Washington authorities have determined on a policy governing the situation, the Massachusetts administrators say they will take immediate action against any restaurants here that have been over-charging.

Although no definite action is being taken now, reports from restaurants have been received in large numbers. One sandwich shop raised the price of cheese sandwiches from 10 to 15 cents just before the edict was issued limiting the amount of cheese to be served to a half ounce. The price has been kept at 15 cents, although the amount of cheese was reduced to 25 per cent the usual amount.

The place is being "investigated" and as soon as definite word comes from Washington as to what measures are to be taken, the concerns will be called to account, the food officials say.

The Waldorf system cut out cheese sandwiches altogether when the edict was issued.

SUPERIOR COURT CRIMINAL CASE

The adjourned session of the Superior court with Chief Justice John Kivel presiding came in on Wednesday and the petit jury were sworn in. At that time Judge Kivel delivered one of the finest talks to the members of the jury on their duty that has been heard in this court room. He analyzed the conditions that arise in service on the jury and of some of the failings of the jury and at the same time took occasion to remind the jury that everybody who came before them were on the same footing. Women in a case should receive the same consideration and judgment as men, but no more, and corporations were entitled to the same fairness of judgment as individuals.

The jury cases were gone over and there are a goodly number marked. The first jury case was a criminal case that of the State vs. Irvin Guy Wilson of Weare, N. H., indicted for being accessory before the fact to the larceny of an automobile from Londonderry. Charles Rowell of Weare, who pleaded guilty to the larceny of the automobile, was the principal State witness and he charged that he stole the automobile at the suggestion of Wilson, who paid his fare from Weare to Londonderry. They stored the machine in a deserted farm and Rowell frankly admitted that he then went north to get a new Ford he knew about, but it was broken down and he did not take it. On the stand he talked of stealing automobiles as though they were apples.

Wilson denied the charge and claimed he did not know the machine was stolen. The jury were out but a short time and returned a verdict of guilty.

Judge Kivel also disposed of some juvenile cases.

FINANCIAL CONDITIONS IN GERMANY ARE CRITICAL

London, Nov. 5.—The Berlin Vossische Zeitung, discussing the financial panic in Germany, says it is of a more stubborn character and greater in extent than at the outbreak of the war.

The newspaper adds that in the month ending Oct. 23 the note circulation of the imperial and loan bank increased 2,550,000,000 marks. The note circulation of the Reichbank had risen to 16,560,000,000 marks as compared with 2,600,000,000 marks beginning of the war, and the loan banks now were circulating 9,000,000,000 marks in notes.

The newspaper says the vice president of the Reichbank has asserted that recent hoarding has attained unexampled dimensions. He warned the public that a continuation of hoarding would mean the complete cessation of the economic life of Germany.

SHATTUCK SHIP YARD NOTES

CHIBIABOS' TRIAL TRIP IMMENSE SUCCESS

Officials Unanimously Declare It the Best Boat Launched on the Atlantic Coast

The best boat of its kind launched on the Atlantic coast in many a year, is the opinion of the Emergency Fleet Corporation officials and shipbuilding experts who made the trial trip of the "Chibiabos," our first gift to Uncle Sam's rapidly growing merchant fleet.

The government trial of the Chibiabos took place October 24th. She sailed out of Portland harbor from Brown's wharf under the command of the Port Warden assisted by Captain Patterson at 8.30 a. m. In her first run to Cape Elizabeth she made 10 9-8 knots—9-8 knot better than the government requirements. The stability of the boat was perfect. There was so little vibration in speeding up that a glass of water could have been placed on the deck without a drop being spilled.

Afterward the boat pulled up to its anchorage ground. The test proved very successful. It was a wonderful sight to see the Chibiabos a mile out with a coat of camouflage that would do credit to Uncle Sam's best destroyer. It was almost impossible to discern the lines of the vessel. It looked like a bale of hay, and three snow drifts, was the opinion of one of the spectators.

The members of the Shipping Board, the representatives from the Portland Ship Ceiling Company, and the Cumberland Shipbuilding Corporation were unanimously of the opinion that the Chibiabos was the best that ever came into Portland Harbor.

The boat returned to Brown's wharf at 4.30 p. m. A few minor changes were made such as the resetting the engine valves and other adjustments of a minor nature the ship was ready for sea service.

A splendid buffet lunch was served on the vessel and it was partaken by all. The regular testing crew from the Portland Ship Ceiling Company was in charge of the vessel.

JUDGE L. V. McGILL OF ROCHESTER, N. H., DEAD

East Rochester, N. H., Nov. 6.—Judge Laurence V. McGill, aged 53, died at his home on Pleasant street Monday afternoon, following several weeks' illness of acute brights disease. Judge McGill was a native of St. John and came here many years ago from Caribou, Me., where he had been station agent on the Maine Central Railroad, and was appointed agent. He studied law with George D. Emery, also a railroad telegrapher, and afterward went to the University of Maine Law school. Upon completing his course he did some railroad work, but eventually opened an office here. Later going to Rochester, where he was engaged in practice up to the time of his illness.

ODD ITEMS FROM EVERYWHERE

A Lynn shoe man has his mail carefully opened, a clerk slitting each envelope along the top. He takes the envelopes into the factory and nails them up by the drinking water tanks, and they serve as individual drinking cups.

Mrs. Leola N. King, wife of Capt. E. H. King of the Medical Corps of the United States Army, is twisting a semaphore at a busy street corner in Washington—the first woman traffic "cop" in the world. She wears a blue uniform with a long swallow-tail coat and black puttees, and is armed with a "blackjack" and with a revolver in a shiny holster slung from her black "Sam Brown" belt. On a round yellow disk swung from her protecting traffic umprella is the legend: "Be brief—no useless conversation."

If you want to know what is going on all the time you must read the Herald every day.

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

If feverish, bilious, constipated, give fruit laxative at once.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

The secretary's announcement came after Washington had been celebrating for two hours on the strength of unofficial reports that the armistice terms had been accepted.

BARTLETT MAJORITY FOR GOVERNOR 6014

Entire Republican Ticket Elected---Moses Defeated Jameson by 993

The practically final returns from the state from Tuesday's election assures the election of Col. John H. Bartlett as governor, the two Republican Senators, Henry W. Keyes for the long term, and George H. Moses for the short term, while the two Republican Congressmen, Sherman E. Burroughs and Edward F. Wason were selected.

The victory is all the more important to some of the ticket from the great work that was put in by the Democrats as well as many Republicans to defeat them, but the Republicans of the state apparently held together. The victory of George H. Moses, although by a reduced majority, from that of Col. Bartlett and Gov. Henry W. Keyes, is very gratifying to his friends, as he was the storm center of the attack, which included the moving into the state of an army of suffrage workers who came with the determination of defeating him and elect the Democratic candidate, John B. Jameson. They apparently had little effect upon the results.

His majority over John B. Jameson was seven less tha na thousand, and Congressman Burroughs' majority over Roberts was not much greater, and his election was conceded from the beginning.

Col. John H. Bartlett of this city leads the entire ticket, running ahead of Governor Keyes by 629, and having a majority over Nathaniel E. Martin Democrat, of 6,014.

The vote for the state with ten small towns missing, the combined vote for which would not alter the situation, is:

Governor—John H. Bartlett, Republican, 35,316; Nathaniel E. Martin, Democrat, 32,302.

For United States Senator—Henry W. Keyes, Republican, 37,688; Eugene E. Reed, Democrat, 32,637; George H. Moses, Republican, 35,362; John B. Jameson, Democrat, 34,369.

For Congress, second district—Edward H. Wason, Republican, 19,191; Harry F. Lake, Democrat, 14,178.

LIEUTENANT MONEYPENNY INJURED

Word was received last night by Mrs. E. J. Moneypenny, of this city, that her husband, Lieut. E. J. Moneypenny, U. S. M. C., had been wounded in battle, but was as comfortable as could be expected at a hospital in France. Lieut. Moneypenny will be remembered by a good many friends from Portsmouth as he was stationed at the local yard for a number of years.

Sergt. Moneypenny went overseas last February and was commissioned Lieutenant last August.

Lieut. Moneypenny married Miss Nellie Pilgrim of this city three years ago. Mrs. Moneypenny is residing with her sister, Mrs. A. L. Hartford of State street.

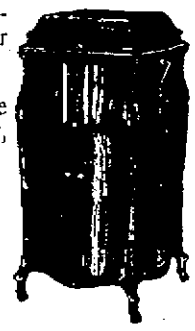
As a Unifying Power to the Nation Music is Welding a Magic Influence

It is making a Union out of many states—a Nation out of many nationalities.

When the Star Spangled Banner sweeps over the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and a hundred million voices give expression to the same sentiments of loyalty it means one hundred million people are drawing a little closer together.



As the nation needs music, as the army needs it, as the church needs it, so does every human being need it.

Music is a Primary Need in Every Home.

The Victrola makes it possible for every one to fill this need. There is one to fit everyone's pocketbook and our terms are easy. Drop in and see the different models.
